

12 DAYS TO THE US ELECTIONS. – PRAY! PRAY!

MANY AMERICANS ARE NOW PLANNING TO “GET OUT,” AHEAD OF ELECTION DAY, AS AUTHORITIES BRACE FOR CHAOS IN THE STREETS.

OCT 18. 2020 Speaking to people in America, Michael Snyder asks:

“Will you be safe where you currently are if the election results cause chaos to erupt in the streets of our major cities? A lot of Americans are becoming deeply concerned about their personal safety as we approach November 3rd, because they can see what is coming. It is going to take a lot of extra time to count all of the votes because tens of millions of Americans are voting by mail this time around, and both sides have recruited armies of lawyers, and are prepared to contest the results of the election to the bitter end.

“No matter who ends up being declared the winner when it is all over, there will be millions upon millions of very angry voters out there that are likely to feel as though the election was stolen from them, and that is a recipe for widespread societal unrest.

“I truly wish that we could go back and do things differently so that we would not be facing this sort of scenario, but it is too late for that now. More than 27 million Americans have already voted, and more are voting every day. Any attempts to fix the process will have to wait for future elections; and without a doubt it definitely needs to be fixed.

“I am writing about the possibility of violence after a U.S. presidential election, but this is where we are at as a society. In fact, there is violence in the streets right now. And this should break all of our hearts, because violence is not going to solve anything. Unfortunately, an increasing number of people are not listening to voices of reason, and we are seeing anger and frustration rise to levels that we have never seen before.

“A recent survey found that 55% of all registered voters expect a rise in violence following the election. They said they thought violence would increase in the U.S. following the Nov. 3 presidential election.

As Election Day draws near, many Americans have decided that “getting out” is the best thing to do. For example, one 31-year-old New York resident is going to stay with her parents on Election day because she believes “the city will be on fire” if Trump wins...

The resident Andrea, 31, also decided to pack up before Nov. 3. “I went to my parents in New Jersey for about two weeks when the BLM protests got bad, and the looting started. So I definitely want to get out of here before the election,” she said. “I’m thinking, if Trump wins, it’s going to be a disaster — the city will be on fire. People are going to go nuts.”

Another woman, aged 42-years, is planning to spend Election Day out of the city because she is concerned that “protesters will try and burn down Trump Tower” ...

The Trump supporter, who is mailing in her ballot, plans to open up her doors to others looking to escape. “I told my friends that whoever wanted to get out of the city was welcome here. One friend who lives in Washington Heights is going to vote in the morning [on Nov. 3] and come straight up to the beach,” she said. “My mother thinks that whether [Trump] wins or loses, protesters will try and burn down Trump Tower.”

Law enforcement authorities all over the nation are also deeply concerned about the potential for violence. In New Jersey, officials have warned that we could potentially see “civil unrest resulting in riots, violent acts, and fatalities” ...

“Election result delays and recounts could result in protests and attempts to occupy election offices,” officials with the New Jersey Department of Homeland Security and Preparedness warned in a threat assessment issued in late September.

“Incidents of civil unrest resulting in riots, violent acts, and fatalities will converge with election uncertainty, producing confrontations between protesters and counter-demonstrators challenging election outcomes,” it noted.

In New York, residents were rattled by a leaked NYPD memo that warned of violent protests from October 25th through the early portion of 2021.

New Yorkers are on edge after a leaked NYPD memo, obtained by The Post, revealed that police are preparing for protests to begin as early as Oct. 25, and to grow in intensity through next year. The department decreed officers should “be prepared for deployment,” adding: “This November 3rd will be one of the most highly contested presidential elections in the modern era. There is also a strong likelihood that the winner of the presidential election may not be decided for several weeks.”

We all remember the rioting that we witnessed earlier this year, and many believe that what is ahead could be far, far worse. In 2020, gun sales have soared to levels that we have never seen before, and many Americans find themselves purchasing guns for the very first time.

One of those first time buyers is a 44-year-old single mother of three daughters, bought a shotgun in May for their protection, and she has joined a new and fast-growing local gun club to learn how to shoot.

According to Reuters, a “potentially contested election that many fear could spark violence” played a role in her decision to purchase a firearm.

If you could go back 50 years ago and tell Americans what conditions would be like in 2020, most of them would not believe you.

Our society is now literally melting down right in front of our eyes, and I don't think that anyone is going to be able to stop it from happening.

Of course this election will come and go, but the social instability that we are witnessing will remain, and at this point everyone should be able to see that America is heading into a very dark future. Michael Snyder concludes:

“Plan for the worst”: Law enforcement authorities all over America are bracing for massive election riots. Anger and hatred have been building up in our country for years, and it appears that we are about to reach a crescendo.

It looks like it is going to be a very pivotal time in our history, and the more bitterly the election results are contested the worse the chaos is likely to be.”

An increasing number of Americans are convinced that things in this nation will soon take a very chaotic turn. In fact, one recent poll found that 61 percent of Americans believe that we are heading toward another civil war...

61 percent of survey takers believe America is nearing a second civil war.

United Nations Combining The World's Largest Abortion Providers To Create A Unified Global Network To Slaughter Children As A 'Human Right'

The U.N. made the announcement on September 29 to commemorate so-called International Safe Abortion Day, with the stated goal of addressing “unsafe abortion” in the context of the COVID-19 pandemic.

The partnership, headed by the WHO Department of Sexual and Reproductive Health and Research, will bring together U.N. entities with the world's largest abortion providers, including the International Planned Parenthood Federation, Ipas, and Marie Stopes International, to promote “comprehensive abortion care,” including access to self-administered telemedicine abortion, as an essential service and a “human right.”

POPE FRANCIS PREACHING SOCIALISM:
“ILLEGAL IMMIGRANTS HAVE A RIGHT TO THE LANDS, GOODS AND SERVICES OF ALL NATIONS THEY ENTER INTO.”

Pope Francis in Fratelli Tutti has proposed “a different way of understanding relations and exchanges between countries” that minimizes the idea of citizenship in a particular nation and emphasizes the common humanity of all people.

The question is not is Pope Francis a Socialist, the real question is he also a Marxist? Because the Jesuit pope from Argentina talks like a card-carrying commie, saying that illegal immigrants have the right to enter any country they choose, and take whatever resources they need, free of charge. Fratelli Tutti. Are you kidding me? But no, sadly, he is not kidding.

"And upon her forehead was a name written, MYSTERY, BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS AND ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH. And I saw the woman drunken with the blood of the saints, and with the blood of the martyrs of Jesus: and when I saw her, I wondered with great admiration." (Revelation 17:5-6)

POPE FRANCIS:
‘EACH COUNTRY ALSO BELONGS TO THE FOREIGNER’

FROM BREITBART NEWS: In a new encyclical letter titled *Fratelli Tutti (Brothers All), the pope asserts that the common destination of the earth’s goods “requires that this principle also be applied to nations, their territories and their resources.”

“Seen from the standpoint not only of the legitimacy of private property and the rights of its citizens, but also of the first principle of the common destination of goods,” the pontiff writes, “we can then say that each country also belongs to the foreigner, inasmuch as a territory’s goods must not be denied to a needy person coming from elsewhere.”

“If every human being possesses an inalienable dignity, if all people are my brothers and sisters, and if the world truly belongs to everyone,” he writes, “then it matters little whether my neighbour was born in my country or elsewhere.”

“My own country also shares responsibility for his or her development, although it can fulfil that responsibility in a variety of ways,” he adds. “It can offer a generous welcome to those in urgent need, or work to improve living conditions in their native lands by refusing to exploit those countries or to drain them of natural resources, backing corrupt systems that hinder the dignified development of their peoples.”

Justice among nations, the pontiff suggests, requires assistance to satisfy the “right to progress” of peoples outside one’s own country, and perhaps even the pardoning of international debt.

POPE FRANCIS CALLS FOR GIVING UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION ‘REAL TEETH’ TO CONTROL THE ENTIRE WORLD.

OCT 5, 2020. FROM BREITBART NEWS: “The twenty-first century is witnessing a weakening of the power of nation states, chiefly because the economic and financial sectors, being transnational, tend to prevail over the political,” the pope writes in the encyclical letter Fratelli Tutti (Brothers All), released on Sunday.

“Given this situation, it is essential to devise stronger and more efficiently organized international institutions, with functionaries who are appointed fairly by agreement among national governments, and empowered to impose sanctions,” the pope advises in the 43,000-word text.

“When we talk about the possibility of some form of world authority regulated by law, we need not necessarily think of a personal authority,” the pontiff asserts. “Still, such an authority ought at least to promote more effective world organizations, equipped with the power to provide for the global common good, the elimination of hunger and poverty and the sure defence of fundamental human rights.”

Among the possible candidates for such a role, the pope turns his attention to the United Nations Organization, with which he enjoys close ties.

“In this regard, I would also note the need for a reform of the United Nations Organization, and likewise of economic institutions and international finance, so that the concept of the family of nations can acquire real teeth,” Francis declares, citing a text from his predecessor, Pope Benedict XVI.

“Needless to say, this calls for clear legal limits to avoid power being co-opted only by a few countries and to prevent cultural impositions or a restriction of the basic freedoms of weaker nations on the basis of ideological differences,” he writes.

The work of the United Nations, the pope insists, “can be seen as the development and promotion of the rule of law, based on the realization that justice is an essential condition for achieving the ideal of universal fraternity.”

“There is need to prevent this Organization from being delegitimized, since its problems and shortcomings are capable of being jointly addressed and resolved,” he adds.

“The seventy-five years since the establishment of the United Nations and the experience of the first twenty years of this millennium have shown that the full application of international norms proves truly effective, and that failure to comply with them is detrimental,” Francis states.

The Charter of the United Nations is “an obligatory reference point of justice and a channel of peace,” he declares, and thus “there can be no room for disguising false intentions or placing the partisan interests of one country or group above the global common good.”

Among the normative instruments for the peaceful resolution of controversies, “preference should be given to multilateral agreements between states, because, more than bilateral agreements, they guarantee the promotion of a truly universal common good and the protection of weaker states,” he declares.

At the same time, Pope Francis notes certain “shortcomings” of the international community, including “its lack of coordination in complex situations, its lack of attention to fundamental human rights and to the critical needs of certain groups.”

INDIA TO RESTRICT FOREIGN FINANCES TO NON-GOVT ORGANISATIONS.

A dear Christian worker in India has written to us, to bring before you a matter of great and urgent concern, and a matter to put before God through OUR collective prayer. The Indian parliament recently passed an FCRA (Foreign Contribution Regulation Act) bill as recently as September 29, 2020 with very serious implications to every NGO sector throughout India.

Organisations can no longer receive any Foreign Contribution (FC) even in to their designated registered accounts after the amendments. Christian organisation will be hit hard.

There are many unanswered questions that we have as an NGO but we are being patient. As you may know Amnesty International just had to shut its main branch in India based on the govt. freezing its bank accounts. Open Doors, UK writes “Foreign Contribution Regulation Act a major blow to NGO’s”. It is hard to gauge the mood of this govt. but we ask that you to pray for INDIA and pray that clarifications and notifications come soon for the NGO sector through-out India.

NEVERTHELESS, REJOICE ...

"for our citizenship is in heaven, from where we also eagerly wait for a Saviour, the Master, Y'shua the Anointed, who, by the power that enables Him to bring everything into subjection to Himself, will transform our lowly body so that it is conformed to His glorious body."
(Philippians 3:20-21)
